

Elire Strategic Advisory Services

Every organization makes decisions, but how often are they strategic?

Since our founding in 2005, Elire's Trusted Advisors have been helping clients make the most of their IT investments. Now, we are using our expertise to apply that same optimization mindset to all other aspects of your business. Elire's Strategic Advisory Services practice offers a full suite of services to help with technology and non-technology questions alike.

Strategic Advisory Services can assist your organization with:

Many companies find themselves with unwieldy processes and IT applications that no longer support their principle business goals.

Before making a significant investment in new software or an organizational redesign, take a moment to look strategically at your long-term goals and ensure your projects will help you achieve them.

Elire uses a unique and intuitive business process mapping methodology to identify current roadblocks and future state opportunities.

Understanding and analyzing your process is the first step toward optimizing it for the future.

Data analysis, scoping, preplanning, and mapping exercises ahead of large upgrades and implementations

Training, Communication, and Change Management Services

End-to-End Process Redesign for Core Financial and HR Processes, including AP Automation with Canon Imaging Solutions

Strategic Roadmapping Services for the future of your IT Investments

Interested in more information?
Contact Richard Merrill | richard.merrill@elire.com | 415.596.7984

